

Russian Novellas and Short Stories Before 1850
Friends of the Heyman Center Series, Fall 2008

Professor Robert L. Belknap

Thurs, 5:30-7:30pm

Second Floor Heyman Center Common Room (unless otherwise noted)

September 25, 2008

Nikolai Karamzin, "Poor Liza" in Carl Proffer, ed. From Karamzin to Bunin, an anthology of Russian Short Stories, Indiana University Press, Bloomington, 1969.

"My Confession," in Henry Nebel, ed. and tr. Selected Prose of N. M. Karamzin, Northwestern University Press, Evanston, 1969. (Photocopies of this story are available at the Heyman Center front office, Monday-Friday 10am-5pm).

October 16, 2008

Note: This class will take place in the First Floor Heyman Center Board Room
Alexander Pushkin, "The Station Master" and "The Queen of Spades" in Proffer, above.

October 30, 2008

Mikhail Lermontov, A Hero of Our Time, Tr. Paul Foote, Penguin, London, or Vladimir Nabokov, Doubleday, Garden City, 1958.

November 6, 2008

Nikolai Gogol, "The Overcoat," "The Nose," "The Story of how Ivan Ivanovich Quarreled with Ivan Nikiforovich," tr Pevear and Volokonsky, in The Collected Tales of Nikolai Gogol, Vintage, 1999.

November 13, 2008

Fedor Dostoevsky, Poor Folk, Tr. Paul McDuff, Penguin, or Robert Dessaix, Ardis, Ann Arbor, 1982.

December 4, 2008

Ivan Turgenev, Sportsman's Notebook, Tr. Hepburns and Egremont, Campbell, London, 2000.

Books can be purchased at Labyrinth Books (112th Street between Amsterdam Avenue and Broadway).